				the information was accessible to all community members, including those with limited literacy. During the rally, Dr. Sur addressed both participants and onlookers, highlighting the critical role of community awareness in fighting the pandemic and the need for collective responsibility in following health advisories. He praised the Campus Harmony and Social Service Unit for their dedication to social service and public welfare. The rally, which concluded at 12:00 PM back at the college campus, received positive feedback from local residents, many of whom expressed their gratitude for the informative and timely initiative. This event successfully raised awareness about Covid-19 prevention measures and reinforced the community's resolve to work together to combat the global health crisis, demonstrating the college's commitment to public health and education.
